This Friday we're holding a Beef Workshop from 10:00 - 3:00 at the District Extension Office. This should be a good program for all beef producers.

* * *

A couple of weeks ago several dozen beef producers got together and decided that a Cattlemens' Organization would serve the county well.

An organizational meeting is scheduled for mid-February.

* * *

Saturday will be sale date at the Red House Bull Evaluation Center. Awards for the top performing bulls will be made at noon.

If you need a catalog, we have a limited supply. It appears to me that a number are under priced at the minimum level. Twenty-six (26) Angus, seventeen (17) Polled Hereford, and two (2) Charolais will sell.

Several farmers have asked about getting rid of Bermuda sedge in pasture. There's no chemical treatment recommended. Good management is the best process. Take a soil test, apply recommended lime and fertilizer. Burning will help destroy seed. Graze heavy and clip. The ommission of any one and your results may not be satisfactory.

* * *

Here's a concern for tobacco growers! A recent report on residue on tobacco shows that the use of toxaphene is up. This chemical gives a terrible off-flavor in the smoke and must be eleminated. Secondly, the residue levels of MH30 continue at a very high rate in all belts. At the moment the US tobaccos will not meet the 1978 standards.

An information and referral service has been set up in Lynchburg. The goal of the center is to link all citizens with available services and resources in the Central Virginia area.

The center is open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Appomattox residents may reach the center toll free by calling the operator and asking for Enterprise 995.

The National Safety Council has a set of rules to follow when using jumper cables to start a motor.

Hydrogen gas can form and cause an explosion. Following these guidelines can prevent an accident.

1. Turn off the ignition and all electrical accessories in both cars (defroster, windshield wiper, lights, etc.) This lessens the chance of errant electrical sparks and reduces the load on the booster battery. Cars should not be touching.

2. Make sure that both batteries are of the same voltage.

3. Shift both cars into neutral and set brake.

4. Remove the caps from both batteries and insure that the fluid level is at the full mark.

5. Place a piece of cloth over the unrapped vent holes of both batteries.

6. Attach one end of one jumper cable to the booster battery's postive terminal. Twist clamps to ensure good metal to metal contacts. Attach the other end of the same cable to the positive terminal of the discharged battery.

7. Attach one end of the second cable to the negative terminal of the booster battery. (Take care that the clamps do not touch the clamps of the other cable.)

8. Connect the other end of the negative cable to the engine block or any other accessible metallic part attached to the engine block that is not painted, chrome-plated, heavily rusted or covered with grease. This last connection should be at least a foot from the dead battery.

9. Engage the starter of the car that has the discharged battery. If it does not start immediately, start the engine of the other car.

10. After the car is running, remove the cable connection at the engine block first and other end of the same cable from the booster battery. Remove the second cable by disconnecting the booster battery first.
